Variety is our specialty with enclosures as small as a few square meters and as large as several hundred square meters installed in large back yards.

Ten good reasons why you should use our net enclosure system

1. You can rest assured that you will not lose your cat while you are out of the house and it is safe from any potential mishaps (No more worries)
2. The pets will have their own space and can come and go as they please, making them less likely to be bored or stressed.
3. You will reduce vet bills for cat fights, car accidents and snake bites
4. The cats are less likely to pick up fleas and ticks from feral animals.
5. House smell are eliminated when litter trays and food are located outside.
6. Responsible protection of the wildlife while still protecting the home from rodents.
7. Studies have shown that cat that live in- side live one average twice as long as roaming cats..
8. Older or recuperating animals can be allowed outdoors therefore encouraging faster healing and better quality of life..
9. Promotes more pet ownership by eliminating the concerns listed above therefore making pet ownership more attractive.
10. Unused wasted space at the back of the house or along the side can now be put to good use.

Protection and freedom

The enclosure nets are a great cost effective way of allowing your pet the freedom of outside life, while ensuring that they are protected from danger as well as other animals.

Custom made and cost effective Kits

Our netting is cheaper to produce than other systems and is made from high strength Ultra Violet polyethylene that can incorporate doors and tunnels directly into your house (via a window) or onto existing material (roof, fence, pergola). Kits are available in various sizes and can be easily assembled in minutes from strong tube and connection fittings

Light weight and unobtrusive

Our cages are about 70% lighter than steel cages and are made of black netting that fades into the background of any yard.

Flexible design and weather proof

The enclosure is 100% weather proof and will not rust over time, there are no sharp edges to damage pets and when you move house the structure can be rolled up into a small bundle and taken to the new house.

Grand back yard spaces, only limited by your imagination.

Tradition with Innovation

Quin Sports opened its doors in 1961 and was started by Hugh Quin. It supplied clubs, schools and sportsmen with a wide range of equipment. During the first few decades of the company's history it focused on supplying domestic and foreign coast fishing fleets and ocean going fishing vessels with fishing nets and ropes of all kinds. We also operated Quin Canvas Goods, winning Government and Army tenders for covers and tents. The development of sporting equipment for gymnasiums, sports complexes and stadiums has steadily increased with improvement in the venues and focus on individual's performances and their equipment.

State of the Art Manufacturing Techniques

Quin Sports are the suppliers of the worlds most advanced netting from knot-less to knotted. All nets are made from the highest UV rating for protection in the Australian climate. Assembly techniques have been gained from experience in the deep sea fishing industry. We invest in the latest machinery to maintain a high quality product at competitive prices.

Quin's maintain a professional team of experts with many years of installation experience. We provide this service world wide and have worked as far as USA, Mexico, Singapore and United Arab Emirates.

Maintenance

Quin Sports and Nets understand the need for our equipment to last as long as possible.
